JONES AND WALLER COMPLETE AIR RACE IN FOURTH POSITION

Unofficial Calculations Give C. W. A. Scott and T. C. Black First Place in Handicap as Well as in Speed Event—American Pair Forced to Spend Few Hours in Jail in Persia

MELBOURNE, Oct. 25 (AP).—Cathcart Jones and Ken Waller, of England, landed their big De Havilland plane here today to claim fourth place in the England-to-Australia air Derby, arriving at 2:54 p.m., local time. They were assured a prize, either in the speed or handicap division. Expected to be next to touch Australian soil was Squadron Leader Malcolm MacGregor, of New Zealand, oldest pilot in the race, who prepared to take off at Batavia, Java, for Darwin, Australia.

A. E. Hewett and his co-pilot, New Zealanders, were at Bangkok; Lieut. M. Hansen, of Denmark, and Squadron Leader D. E. Stodart, of England, took off from Calcutta, the latter at 9:20 p.m. and the former at 4:30 p.m. Greenwich meridian time. C. J. Melrose, of Australia, solo flyer, had left Allahabad.

CHANCES ARE GOOD Melrose broke his habitual silence to say he was determined to get one of the handicap prizes. As his is next to the highest time allowance, his chances were considered good. Flight Lieutenant G. Shaw, of Britain, was still delayed as Bushire; Flying Officer C. G. Davies was at Cyprus, and H. L. Brook, of Great Britain, at Athens.

Hewett completed the hop to Singapore at 10:55 p.m., Eastern standard time. A roaring welcome to the first arrivals in the Derby had been given place to fear for John M. Wright and John Polando, United States airmen, flying the smallest ship in the race, when hour after hour passed without reports from them, following their take-off from Baghdad at 10 a.m. Greenwich meridian time. Tuesday, today word came from Basra, Iraq, that they had landed near the Turco-Persian border, to be clapped into prison and held overnight.

KNIFE IN HEAD HAS NO EFFECT

Not Even Painful for Convict Although Brain Is Penetrated

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP).—Joseph Fatigato, twenty-five, was stabbed mysteriously as he exercised with 100 prisoners in the north wing of Welfare Island Penitentiary, today.

With the handle of a kitchen knife protruding from his forehead, the prisoner calmly stepped from the group and asked an amazed guard for medical attention.

He was rushed to the prison hospital, where the handle of the six-inch blade was broken off as physicians attempted to extract it.

Smoking a cigarette and chatting quietly with attendants, the prisoner, a resident of the Bronx, serving an indeterminate sentence for second degree assault, said he felt no pain as the physicians sought unsuccessfully to remove the blade. X-ray pictures showed it passed through his brain.

ANAMAZING THING "It was the most amazing thing I ever saw," said Austin H. McCormick, commissioner of corrections, who was at the institution when the stabbing occurred. "Fatigato has full possession of his faculties and says he feels no pain."

Fatigato insisted he did not know the identity of his assailant. Officials said the stabbing was done so quickly, many of the prisoners were unaware of it until Fatigato asked for assistance.

CANDIDATES APPROACHED

Interest in Civic Elections Evincing as Voters' List Nears Close

With registration of citizens on the civic voters' list ending at 5 p.m. next Wednesday, interest in the forthcoming city elections already is being evinced. One candidate has been announced definitely, while others have had their names mentioned as possible aspirants to civic office.

Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin holds the distinction of being the first candidate to announce herself in the contest for the school board. Walter Miles, director of the Children's Aid Society, member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, member of the Kinmen Club and an official of Christ Church Cathedral, has been approached, and is considering running for the school board, although he declined yesterday to make any definite statement as to whether he would run.

KNOTTY DEBATE IS PREDICTED

Japanese Present Demand for Naval Equality to U.S. Delegates

LONDON, Oct. 24 (CP).—The Japanese today presented their claim for naval equality to representatives of the United States, as they had done in meetings with the British yesterday. No action was taken and no official statements were issued, but it seemed obvious that a long and knotty discussion faced the representatives of the world's three leading naval powers. British and Americans feel that the existing treaties already contain sufficient guarantees for equality in security. Japan would sweep away the existing treaties and replace them with an entire new structure.

In a nutshell, Japan is firm in determination to remove the existing ratio basis, on which naval categories of Britain, the United States and Japan are fixed on a 5-5-3 ratio, respectively. If the other powers will not join her in abrogating the Washington treaty, then she will abrogate it unilaterally—Independently.

The Japanese proposal would divide naval armaments into offensive and defensive classes. She demands recognition of the principle of equality in defensive armaments, and abolition or considerable reduction in the offensive classes.

Under the agreement, it was stated, Maynard was to pay a monthly sum to the Browns while endeavoring to dispose of the house and lot. These payments were not met, and later Mrs. Brown, on behalf of her husband and herself, proposed a new agreement. To this Maynard made no response.

Later the Browns engaged Harold A. Beckwith, an solicitor, to endeavor to obtain satisfaction. Mr.

Ministry of Air in France Announces Great Plane Race

PARIS, Oct. 25 (AP).—The Air Ministry announced today that a great international air race will be organized by France to give the industry of this country, unrepresented in the Melbourne air Derby, an opportunity to demonstrate that it holds a place in the forefront of progress.

CHALLENGES U.S. BANKERS

Roosevelt Asks for Expansion in Lending—Plans Remain Unknown

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP).—President Roosevelt addressed to bankers of the United States tonight something of a challenge, asserting he expected them to supply the credit need of the country and to begin supplying it at once.

TAKEN AT HIS WORD "In March, 1933, I asked the people of this country to renew their confidence in the banks," he said. "They took me at my word."

Tonight I ask the bankers of the country to renew their confidence in the people of this country. I hope you will take me at my word."

The President said that, after numerous conferences with members of the banking fraternity, he had found many points of disagreement but also "general agreement" that governmental credit agencies must continue to function until the private banks are ready to take over their function.

Jackson Reynolds, president of the First National Bank of New York, in introducing the chief executive, himself brought up the question of monetary stabilization, but did so in a way that left Mr. Roosevelt free not to speak on the subject.

QUESTION FOR THEMSELVES Reynolds asked the bankers to let their "secret selves" answer whether they would have the President "at one stroke both the our hands vis-a-vis the currencies of Europe and the Orient and risk consolidating into one irresistible programme the inflationary demands here, by making a statement today that the very definite stabilization of the dollar effected last January and since maintained should stand for all time under all circumstances."

Many who had expected Mr. Roosevelt to give some hint of his future monetary or other plans found few such hints.

ANOTHER ERROR FOUND IN DEAL

Measure Establishing Pension System for Railway-men Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP).—Another bit of New Deal legislation, the measure which established a pension system for United States railway employees, was declared unconstitutional today in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

Although an appeal by the Government and an eventual test in the Supreme Court was regarded as certain, the decision stimulated a sluggish stock market. Rail shares were in the van of a brisk advance, jumping from $1 to $5.

JUDGE'S OPINION "The act is unconstitutional because it extends its provisions to persons not engaged in interstate commerce," declared Justice Alfred A. Wheat in his opinion.

The American Railway Association, in its attack upon the law, asserted that it affected many employees who were engaged only in intra-state commerce, and that it violated the Fifth Amendment by taking property without due process of law.

Passed in the closing days of Congress, the Pension Bill provided for retirement with pay of railway employees who had reached the age of sixty-five or who had served for thirty years. Employees and employers were required to contribute to a fund for the pensions, but the carriers' assessment was about two-thirds of the sum.

Reach Agreement On Three Points In School Survey

Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, Enumerates First General Results of Province-Wide Investigations—Department to Extend Correspondence Courses—Prizes Presented

"ALTHOUGH these are not personal expressions, I may state that in compiling the educational survey, we have reached a reasonable agreement on three points. These are: First, the burden on land must be eased, and in this we are not suggesting it can be entirely eliminated; second, taxation should be based on income on the basis of ability to pay, and third, in so far as possible, enlarging of educational districts," stated Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, yesterday, in addressing members of Mount View High School Parent-Teacher Association and students of the school.

Dr. Weir defined education partly as "that man is truly educated whose body is trained in youth to be the ready servant of his mind." He was quoting Huxley, noted English writer or many years ago. He said he was in an unusual position, when, after being accused of not having placed practical subjects in the curriculum, and then introducing modern subjects, he was criticised for offering "fads and frills" to pupils.

Dr. Weir outlined school history, generally, from the time of Huxley to the present. The early schools of thought deemed it necessary to have education as solely a family affair. This condition, stated the speaker, continued up to 190 years ago. It was a far cry from then to the present day when, in England, the state bears 50 per cent of school costs.

"They are far more generous than we are in British Columbia," he remarked.

LEADING IN STRAW VOTE

Sinclair Charges Foes With Buying Ballots as Merriam Leads

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24 (AP).—Upton Sinclair, Democratic nominee for Governor, charged today that his foes were buying ballots in a large-scale straw vote, the first returns of which showed Acting Governor Frank F. Merriam, Republican candidate, leading about 2 to 1.

The former Socialist made his accusation first when a huge crowd boomed as he referred, last night, to unofficial reports of the straw voting. He asserted that his enemies were paying twenty-five cents each for all the ballots they could get.

BATTLE IN COURT Meanwhile, a battle potentially involving the right of hundreds of thousands of persons to vote in the forthcoming California election came to a head in the State Supreme Court. The high tribunal ordered Judge Frank C. Collier, of Los Angeles, Sinclair's stronghold in the primary election, to appear at 7:30 to hear the reply. It was definite.

CURT BUT DEFINITE "He says 'No,'" was the message that the minister delivered, according to one indignant official, following the evening gathering.

All manner of action was proposed, from the organization of indignation meetings, to making a direct appeal to Premier Bennett. Continued on Page 2, Column 5

EARTHQUAKE IS SHORT AND SHARP

San Francisco Houses Jarred but No Damage Reported After Minor Shocks

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24 (AP).—A sharp earthquake, of brief duration, was reported by residents of widely-separated districts in San Francisco, tonight.

The tremor was felt at 7:22 p.m. Residents said their homes were noticeably jarred. No damage was reported.

Professor Perry Byerly, University of California seismologist, said the shock was of a minor nature and probably centred on the San Andreas fault, near Colma, south of San Francisco. Instruments indicated the point of greatest intensity was about twenty miles west of Berkeley.

Professor Byerly said that Colma was the centre of minor quakes on October 2, also.

Further evidence, in addition, will be submitted on the effect of mass buying by large-scale merchandising establishments. Government auditors will submit their report relative to chain store merchandizing in Canada, and evidence will be submitted as to the position of the consumer in relation to various questions that have arisen.

SAY CANADIAN POLICY SOUND

Federal and Provincial Speakers Heard at Esquimalt Conservative Rally

Esquimalt Conservatives last evening returned all officers by acclamation for the ensuing year, and heard C. H. Dickie, M.P.; D. B. Plunkett, M.P., and R. H. Pooley, K.C., M.P., in addresses featuring the annual meeting of the organization. Federal policies, discussed by all speakers, were in relation to the facts that impelled them, and as contributing to the sound credit position the country occupies today.

R. H. POOLEY, M.P.P. In a provincial sense, said Mr. Pooley, the people had been beguiled by the lure of "work and wages."

He hoped they were satisfied. It was a good cry for catching votes. When the Liberals were elected they packed their grips and went to Ottawa for a handout, and they have been going there ever since. It has got so now that some say the "P.G.E." stands for "Pattullo Goes East," Mr. Pooley declared.

The present Attorney-General, the speaker continued, had spent as much in traveling expenses in the last six months as he (Mr. Pooley) had done in five years in office. A return of traveling expenses would be looked for in the House, in reply to questions.

It was a time to face difficulties, and not to pass on the burden. The Federal Government had its responsibilities and limitations, no less than provincial and municipal agencies. The lead given by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett had resulted in a sound position for Canada, with its credit high among nations of the world. Mr. Pooley observed, in conclusion.

D. B. PLUNKETT, M.P. Despite all criticism, Ottawa had preserved the credit of the four Western provinces during the last year, Mr. Plunkett said. The Canadian dollar, which stood at eighty-six cents a few years ago, was now at 103 cents. Some $83,000,000 of Federal expenditures had been eliminated. The "unsympathetic" administration at Ottawa had found $9,000,000 for the Liberal majority at Victoria, this year.

Federal Liberals were pledged to do away with the Ottawa trade agreements; to abolish the central bank as it was at present created, and to undo much more that had been done in the light of experience. What, Mr. Plunkett asked, would Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King put in their place? So far, the Leader of the Opposition had refrained from saying what would be done if he were given the opportunity, the speaker declared. Liberals were free traders only while out of office, he averred.

TOURIST AFFAIRS Turning to tourist affairs, Mr. Plunkett said Ottawa had been the first to put the tourist industry

Endorse Council's Action in Refusing Gov't Relief Cuts

A RESOLUTION endorsing the Saanich Council's stand in refusing further cuts in relief grants from the Province was passed at last night's meeting of Ward Two Non-Political Ratepayers' Association, in Cloverdale School. This action was taken when Councillor E. C. Warren gave an account of the last council session. A copy of the motion will be forwarded to other ward associations inviting their endorsement.

for years, and would remain so, he predicted.

Captain Cox suggested that Federal members take note of his proposal that a national referendum be held on the question of sweeping the people had shown clearly their desired such a test, and it had been declared open ground by both major political parties. Millions of dollars were being sent out of the country, with illegal and illicit sweeps internally also operating. It was time to amend the Criminal Code one way or the other. He proposed also Federal action to lighten the burden of taxation on home owners.

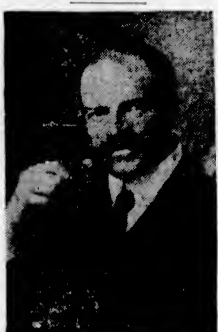

Exhibition to Be Open Until Late Tonight

The annual exhibition of the Arts and Crafts Society, in the Belmont Building, is drawing most gratifying patronage day by day, and intending visitors are reminded that the rooms will be open until 9 o'clock tonight, in order to give some of those who are unable to come in the daytime an opportunity to inspect the exhibits.

The crafts, convened by Mrs. C. P. Napier, continue to be the most popular feature, being unusually varied and of very high standard. The pictures, too, are of a generally higher standard than for several years, and much admiration has been expressed for the arrangement.

K. M. CHADWICK LAID AT REST

Many Attended Funeral Services Yesterday in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay

K. M. CHADWICK

A large number of sympathizing friends attended the funeral of the late Kenneth Murray Chadwick, held yesterday afternoon in St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay. Rev. Canon A. E. de L. Nunns conducted the service. The choir was in attendance and the hymns sung were "Unto the Hills," "Breathe on Me, Breath of God," also the Twenty-Third Psalm.

The casket and hearse were banked with beautiful floral offerings. The following acted as pallbearers: Honorary, C. L. Harrison, W. H. Douglas and G. A. Cameron, representing the Alpine Club; F. C. Green, H. L. Swan and H. F. Bourne, representing the Civil Engineers' Institute of Canada; active pallbearers, W. Everall, Colonel G. A. Phillips, W. Barrowclough, R. Price, H. Williams and H. N. Wright.

The remains were laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

RE-ELECT OFFICERS The association re-elected all officers by acclamation, and chose a new executive of twelve by ballot. Captain W. J. Cox was returned as president for another term, with Thomas Hadfield as vice-president and G. W. Archer, secretary-treasurer.

The executive includes Miss Pooley, Rev. Alexander Lockley, E. V. Finland, Mrs. C. H. Smith, R. W. Dent, J. H. McDonald, D. W. Barker, Mrs. T. Hadfield, Mrs. Sanders, Sidney R. Bowden, David Henry and B. Martin.

Annual reports showed a favorable balance, and progress made on organization during the year. Captain Cox announced decision to hold card parties on the first and third Mondays of each month at the Esquimalt Conservative Club rooms. Esquimalt had been a Conservative constituency

RELIEF POLICY IS EXPLAINED

Burden Not as Heavy as First Believed, Municipal Officers Told

The change in the unemployment relief policy will not be half so serious to municipalities as at first anticipated, according to the explanation given to municipal officials, yesterday, by E. W. Griffiths, administrator of the relief branch of the Provincial Department of Labor.

Those who attended the conference were the city controllers and city relief officers of Victoria and Vancouver.

To clarify the new policy, the matter was illustrated by the use of a supposition. If, in the past, the Province had received $250,000 from the Federal Government as its share in the relief cost, the difference between that amount and the $150,000 fixed sum, now definitely declared as the Federal Government's share, would be $100,000.

SHAKE IN SHORTAGE This shortage of $100,000 would be absorbed on a three-to-one ratio by the unorganized districts and the municipalities. That is to say, the unorganized districts would bear three parts of the cost, and the municipalities the fourth.

Under this arrangement, the municipalities' share is ordinarily would be $25,000. But the Provincial Government, in setting its new policy, undertakes to absorb half of this difference, so that the actual burden on the municipalities would be $12,500, which, spread, over all municipalities proportionately, would increase Victoria's burden by about $2,000 a month.

As the figure of $250,000, although fictitious, is very close to the amount that the Province received from the Federal Government in August, it can readily be seen that Victoria's extra burden actually will be in the neighborhood of $2,000 a month.

COURT ASSISTS FORMER REEVE

Is Relieved of Penalties Imposed by Act for Period in Office

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24 (CP).—Michael Murphy, former reeve of Sumas Municipality, was relieved of penalties and forfeitures, imposed by the Municipal Act for the period he held office, during which he was technically disqualified, by an order made yesterday in Supreme Court by Chief Justice Aulay Morrison.

Mr. Murphy held office from January 13, 1934, to July 27, when he resigned, and was liable to a forfeiture of $2,500 and a penalty of $50 a day, a total of $6,950.

The disqualification was based on the fact that Mr. Murphy was indirectly interested in the sale by Sumas-Abbotsford Agricultural Association of five and a half acres to the municipality for park purposes. The 1934 council completed the purchase after it had been ratified by ratepayers.

Some years ago, when the association was hard pressed for money, Mr. Murphy and five other residents endorsed its note to enable it to borrow money from the bank, and the loan has not been repaid.

A ratepayer drew the alleged disqualification to the attention of the reeve on July 25. He resigned two days later.

SAYS EDUCATION DOMINION CHARGE Trustee Walter P. Jeune, Saanich, Explains School Board Action on High School Question

Declaring that education was principally a Dominion affair rather than municipal or provincial, Trustee Walter P. Jeune, chairman of Saanich School Board, last night, addressed Saanich Ward Two Non-Political Ratepayers' Association, in Cloverdale School.

Trustee Jeune pointed out that since 1932 the school board had not operating costs some $31,000. Meanwhile, he continued, the board had continued to function. He felt it would be useless to approach the Government or Municipal Council for more funds, as both, he said, were in rather difficult financial straits at this time.

In explaining the board's action in expelling children of over eighteen years of age from high school, Trustee

UNIFIED RAILWAY CONTROL

Mr. C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Canadian National Railways, opposes the plan for unified control of the railway transportation system of the Dominion. It is perhaps axiomatic that he should take this stand. He refuses to believe that such unification would lead to an annual saving of $75,000,000, and says that the officers of the system with which he is connected take the saving at $15,000,000. The stand taken by Mr. Fullerton is that all that could be saved by unification can be accomplished by co-operation between the railway companies. That may be so, but it is very evident that the savings in question are not being made in their entirety.

Mr. Fullerton seems more concerned about the political difficulties in the way of economy than in the pursuit of business-like methods in the operation of transportation. He has said, not once but several times, that if the railways cut down expenses by abandoning lines and reducing the personnel there will be political ouches. No doubt there would be, but transportation, as well as every other service, should be based on economical lines. The question is, however, why should the proposal for unified control be discussed by Mr. Fullerton, who is an employee of the Government. That proposal involves governmental policy. It is a matter for the elected representatives of the people, and Mr. Fullerton is not one of these. He is not the mouthpiece of the Government. It was not intended that the Board of Trustees of the Canadian National Railways should have a say in the attitude to be assumed by Parliament.

There is one statement made by Mr. Fullerton which deserves elaboration. He says that Mr. Beatty believes that "amalgamation" will take the railways away from "political influence." Mr. Fullerton evidently thinks that the word "amalgamation" is synonymous with "unified control." The implication is that the railways are now under political control, which is an inescapable fact, since the necessary economies are not being effected in the interest of the taxpayers of the country as a whole. Mr. Fullerton, in his statements, has shown that political considerations guide the destiny of the Canadian National Railways, and so long as they do, business management, on the basis of adequate returns on the capital invested, will not be possible. The chairman of the Board of Trustees understands what he is expected to do politically. That he should have voiced his opinions at all is indicative of this, for otherwise, in his position, he would hardly have ventured to put up an argument which seemingly, according to the Minister of Railways, dovetails with the attitude of the Government.

The fact is that the unified control suggested by Mr. Beatty is in the best interests of the taxpayers does not involve any change in ownership of the railways. It involves no disproportionate distribution of earnings of the two companies. It does not mean such unemployment as Mr. Fullerton predicts. In the last instance the statement made by Mr. Beatty was to the effect that, "if the necessary changes are made gradually, widely and considerably, as they would be, it would be found that the normal turnover of labor would take up the slack, and that under the unified system employees would find that regularity of employment which, under present conditions, is denied to them. The natural and automatic turnover of labor in this country is sufficient to justify complete expectation that unification of the railway systems would not make it necessary to add to the volume of unemployment. Each year men die, retire, or change their occupation; and a careful survey of the situation has convinced me that we have nothing to fear on the grounds of loss of employment due to unification for the purpose of administration of the railway system."

EXAMINATIONS

In Manitoba a proposal has been made that the final examinations in the eleventh grade of the high schools should be eliminated, and that the standing of the pupils should depend on the recommendation of the principal of the school and the approval of the secondary school inspector. There are few educational questions more vigorously debated than those which concern the value of the final examination, and there is reason to believe that the proposal will meet with opposition.

Some teachers say that they are able to keep, and do keep, quite dependable records of the standing and progress of their pupils throughout the year, and that such a record is much more accurate and revealing than the marks obtained at any final examination set by an outside authority. Moreover, they add that a student is not always at his best in a final examination. Others are of opinion that a final written examination serves several important purposes. It furnishes the teacher with a means to measure up to a standard set by a disinterested party. It is intended to keep the pupil up to the mark by supplying a stimulus to unremitting exertion. If students suffer to some extent from nervousness, that nervousness is due either to inability to cope with the work, or else to a consciousness of duties ill-performed and days mispent.

If the Manitoba proposal is tried out, it will place a heavy responsibility upon the shoulders of principals and inspectors. Would the students have less difficulty in "getting by" these officials whom they know, than in "satisfying the examiner" whom they do not know? It is not indeed certain that the proposed measure would have the effect of directing a larger stream of high school students towards the university, but on the whole it seems at least probable that such would be the result.

Those who believe that the taxpayers are now required to furnish university instruction on too generous a scale and are entitled to some relief from the heavy burden of educational costs, will be in favor of continuing the final examination and of making it harder instead of easier to obtain a high school diploma and the right to further education in the university.

LOWER INTEREST RATES

The reduction of the interest rate on savings in the banks of the country is by no means an unmixed blessing. It is perhaps inevitable, as money has become cheaper in so many aspects of finance. Lower interest rates effect savings for governments on their capital accounts. Such reductions, however, in the case of the rate paid on savings, hurt the fortunes of individuals. It is not easy to say who the reduced rate on savings is going to help unless there is a corresponding decrease in the interest charged on loans. There has been no reduction, except in some few instances, in the interest rates on mortgages. They are still fixed in general conformity with the return of five per cent or more on Government securities. Those whose investments are in sound mortgages are as well off as ever; those who have investments in stocks and bonds have suffered, sometimes very heavily. Now those who regard banks as the safest form of investments must suffer as well by the reduction in the rate of interest on savings accounts. Thus in the trend of modern finance towards lower interest rates there is a very considerable section of the population suffering, and if governments are being saved money the people who pay the taxes are less able to afford them.

AN OLD SEA SERPENT

There is nothing new about sea serpents, but one of the fabulous ones never has been captured so far as records go. In the story of "John Marsh, Pioneer," by Dr. Lyman, of San Francisco, there is an incident related of how when that pioneer was young and visiting his aunt at Salem, a serpent of enormous size was seen in the harbor of Gloucester, Massachusetts. "Enchanting descriptions of the monster filled the papers. The old sailors pictured it as enormous—some said 60 feet, others 140 feet—but the most authentic reports stated that it was in the neighborhood of 70 feet long, about the breadth of a barrel and covered with hard scales." It is claimed that one night some men in a small boat came within reach of the sea serpent with their oars, but were so terrified that they beat a hasty retreat. The story goes on to say that one of the young of the serpent was killed on an island in Gloucester Harbor and was exhibited at the Essex Coffee House. It was three feet long, brown in color and had thirty-two humps on its back. How it was identified as one of the young of the sea monster, the story does not relate.

Of treasure hunts there is no end. The latest proposed is one to recover the treasure of Monte Cristo on the island of that name. Dumas' immortal story has always held a peculiar fascination for treasure hunters. Now some Corsican fishermen who have visited the island of Monte Cristo report that while sheltering from a gale on the shore they came upon several gold coins of the eighteenth century near the ruins of the watch tower. This is regarded as possibly tangible evidence of the Monte Cristo legend of how Edmond Dantes became wealthy. An organized search expedition is now being considered.

SCAPEGOTS AND SHOCK CUTS

Scapegoats are shilly shallys, and shortcuts we may try if we are crazy enough. We have already ventured along one: Government ownership of railways, tramways, motorbuses, steamers, catfishes, meatworks, fruit canneries and banks like the concern on which a Royal Commission has just reported in Westralia. It was recommended to us by the Lange and Scullins, and by many of those who are now Communists and Douglasites, and among the results are colossal liabilities, chronic deficits, the rise of menacing organizations and a vast extension of bureaucratic control. Shall we follow these false guides along wider and darker roads? Better stick to the ways we know, improving them where we can and pruning the liberties we enjoy while the regimented and impoverished people of the countries run by dictators and decrees are denied the vote and the precious gift of free speech—Sydney Bulletin.

He deserves praise who does not what he may, but what he ought—Seneca.

We are all excited by the love of praise, and the noblest are the most influenced by glory—Cicero.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

They love the land, because it is their own.

And soon to give such other reason why—Hillock.

We have received and been asked to comment upon an article written by Sir John Foster Fraser and published in The London Sunday Graphic.

The subject discussed by Sir John was the relations of the Dominions to the Mother Country and emigration. The writer is quite right when he says that migration to the Dominions has practically ceased and the reasons assigned for the change in the conditions as compared with other years are in the main correct. The Dominions are not inviting strangers to enter within their gates because they have suffered, like most other countries, from the depression and there is a lack of employment in the industrial centres. Under the circumstances, labor is opposed to immigration, because it fears increased competition.

But there are aspects of the matter which Sir John does not discuss. The Dominions are no longer offering inducements to strangers to come, and the Mother Dominion is offering premiums to the people to stay at home. In Great Britain there are what in this country we call Social Services, such as old age pensions, unemployment insurance, in full force there while we are merely experimenting with them here. If an immigrant leaves home for another country he is making an experiment which may mean uncertainty and possibly hardships, while, if he stays at home he is at least assured of subsistence, reasonable comfort, and the sports and amusements which are the principal interests of his life.

In the days of the great migratory movements from Europe to America the magnet which attracted the crowds landed almost daily at the ports of Canada and the United States was the land.

The tenant farmer and the laborer he employed hungered and thirsted for absolute ownership of land, which he could cultivate without payment of semi-annual tribute to what our late friend Mike called the Big Landlords. But in those days land was the standard of values. Land, like gold, has gone of the long-established standard. It has fallen so far away from being a standard of values that in some parts of Canada it is no longer considered an asset, but a liability.

To some extent that condition is due to over-production from the land and under-consumption in the over-populated centres.

In the United States the conditions are similar to the conditions in Canada, and possibly more aggravated. The gates which at one time were thrown wide open to immigrants and premiums were paid to induce all sorts and conditions of foreigners to come in have been closed and barred. Yet the period at which the United States was most prosperous was the period when immigration was unrestricted. As that condition never can occur again, the great waste places in the West all having been filled up until they run over, the government is trying a grand experiment in the way of adjusting the balance which has been upset. Four years ago no one in the United States ever dreamt that events would play such fantastic tricks in a country endowed with such great natural wealth filled with people of such boundless energy and enterprise.

The result appears to be that visionaries, dreamers, or perhaps charlatans are suggesting tricks in government and economics which are even more fantastic than the tricks played by fate.

For the time being it was necessary for Canada to follow the example of the United States in limiting immigration; and we trust no Statesman in Canada will think it necessary to follow the experiment of the United States in the vain hope of lifting the depression. There are vast uninhabited places in this country which must be populated and developed in order to fulfill the ultimate destiny of Canada as a potentially one of the greatest of the nations. The doors at our frontiers cannot be permanently barred to the entrance of immigrants. The passionate appeal of Rudyard Kipling, made in Victoria, that the portals be thrown open and people pumped in, was all very well from a rhetorical point of view, but it would be impractical under the change which has come over circumstances. The day will come when real statesmen will appreciate the necessity for population, not poured in as from the group of a pump, but let in after careful examination and selection.

Sir John Foster Fraser is right in most of his points, but he is wrong in saying that immigration from Great Britain has entirely ceased. There is still a trickle, and that of a superior class. The lure of the land has lost some of its lustre, but it has not been extinguished. A false standard of land values has been upset, but a fair standard will be discovered and stabilized. Land will again become an asset.

SALES TAX

Sir,—On a recent visit to California I was impressed chiefly by two things.

First, the great interest taken in the Townsend Scheme, which promises to all persons over the age of 60 a pension of $200 a month, on the condition that they give to the Government any property they possess, and spend every cent of the pension. Husbands and wives are each to receive the full $200; the payments to be provided for by a sales tax of 10 per cent. To me the blind faith and hope in the success and passing of this fantastic scheme was most pathetic. It was the last ray of hope to thousands ruined in the depression.

Second, the apparent success of the 2½ per cent levied on all sales. Restaurants charge and, unlike British Columbia, manage to collect the tax. Bread pays one cent a loaf. The tax forces every body, even the schools and contribute towards employment relief. One farmer assured me that taxes on land had been reduced, his coming down 50 per cent, which made it possible to save his farm, and live on it.

Surely it is time for British Columbia to levy a similar sales tax and relieve real estate. If it does not act promptly all vacant lots will revert to the municipalities, and the tax on improved property become intolerable, and impossible to meet.

WELFARE DRIVE

Sir,—Might I through your paper, appeal to Spanish residents to support this drive to the best of their ability.

Our Spanish Welfare Association could never have carried on this year if it had not been for the generous giving out of the funds of the drive last year.

It gives me a feeling of depression when I see the small amount that has been collected to date (not half the objective) and this is a Greater Victoria reputed to be the wealthiest city in Canada. Please do not wait for a canvasser to call on you, and don't be afraid to send in your amount because it is small. Although we are wanting the large amounts too (and we should be getting them), we realize that very often the more real sacrifice in the small amount than in the large one.

Help this fund all you can and there will be a real satisfaction in knowing you have done your share in trying to help others.

A New York doctor made this test,
And was many months recovering
From a complete nervous breakdown.
"What am I to do?" You may ask,

The answer is "Increase your nerve force."
Sleeplessness has been sapping your system
Of nerve force and this must be replaced.
Nerve force is created from rich red blood,
And Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies the

More Funds Are Needed For Welfare Campaign

Subscriptions for Assisting Destitute Fall Short of $17,000, and Objective Is Set at $43,500 —
Relief Daily Grows More Arduous

As the second week of the drive reached the midway point, the Friendly Help Welfare Association yesterday reported that it still had not passed the $17,000 mark toward its objective of $43,500. For the past few days the fund has been hovering between $16,000 and $17, 000, and unless more generous support of the campaign is forthcoming,
there are hundreds of destitute persons who will go without the ordinary necessities of life this coming winter.

Already the officials at the headquarters of the Friendly Help Welfare Association are deluged with requests for clothing—especially boots, stockings and underwear for men, women and children—for the winter months. Most of this clothing must be purchased, as donations of used clothing, while always welcome and useful, fall far short of supplying the demand.

CLOTHING COST
The Victoria Citizens' Unemployment Relief Fund, which was taken over by the Friendly Help Welfare Association in February last, estimated that $20,000 are required annually for this purpose alone. Great concern is, therefore, felt at headquarters, where it is realized that unless the campaign achieves its objective, there will be many adults and little children this winter who will be inadequately clothed.

Young Man With No Experience Describes Activities
in Giving Advice

TORONTO, Oct. 24 (CP).—A youthful "statistician," who admitted he had never been inside a mine, and had been associated with a brokerage office in a secretarial position only six months before accepting his present post, revealed to Ontario Securities Commissioner J.
M. Godfrey, today, how he had advised clients of John T. White & Company in all parts of Canada
what to do with their stock holdings.

Appearing as a witness at the commissioner's inquiry into operations of the stock brokerage company, Hubert Dighton, twenty-seven,
told how he had conducted a column
in the company's weekly publication, "The Canadian Mining and Financial Record," and had "sometimes worked day and night with five stenographers," advising clients when to sell, when to buy and when to switch their holdings. He admitted all his advice was based on information provided by the mining companies or their officials, the newspapers and mining news services.

A VAST SERVICE

The brokerage company also had organized a vast telephone service which stretched across the continent. It was shown by Arthur Jones, of the Bell Telephone Company, who said White's account for the last six months had been nearly $20,000, the bulk of which was spent on long distance calls. There were twenty-three telephones in the office, he testified.

In August, Jones said, the company spent $9,283, most of which was for calls which ranged from Los Angeles, Regina, to Buckingham, Que.

Subscription rates of The Mining and Financial Record were quoted at $10 per year, Dighton said, but sometimes 15,000 copies were sent out free of cost.

Dighton admitted he had given advice to clients and advised them when to buy and sell. Sometimes,
he said, he would recommend sale
of one stock to purchase another.

ADVISED PURCHASE

He said he advised purchase of McFarland Long Lac Mining Company stock, into which Mr. Godfrey said an investigation "also probably will develop."

The paper, described by the commissioner as a "tipster sheet," was strong in its praise of the McFarland property, and advised clients to share in "the most outstanding bargain in the amazingly rich find."
Albert Ackley, twenty-six-year-old "advertising man," said he "had to fill the pages" of the paper and was responsible for selection of "impartial news items." He denied responsibility for any editorial, but said he had aided in preparing a circular, the mailing list of which sometimes reached 18,000 copies weekly.

TO PRESS FOR IMPROVEMENT

Malahat Board of Trade Wants Work Done on Cut-Off Road

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, Oct. 24.—
The regular meeting of the Malahat Board of Trade was held at the home of a member at Mill Bay. P.
T. Elford occupied the chair.

The public works committee reported its decision to press for improvements to the cut-off road from Cousins' Camp, on the Malahat, to its junction with the highway at Cobble Hill, with a view to making it a main highway for traffic. The committee also reported that the deputy minister had secured his promise to go over the road and get first-hand information.

The committee appointed to look into the request of the residents of Mill Bay for a boat wharf, reported viewing several sites and asked for further time to make a report.

The residents of the West Shawnigan Road asked the board to assist them in getting gravel placed on that road before winter. The board decided to take up the matter.

The clearing of the lake outlet
was reported nearing completion.
The secretary was instructed to write to the Public Works Department, thanking it for this special work.

The question of the lake rising and "disappearing" debris of the mill site was discussed. It was decided to take steps to prevent the littering of the beaches from this source.

J. H. Blyth, a visitor, was introduced and given a hearty welcome.
Tea was served by the hostess.

FITZMAURICE MAY START ON FRIDAY

Delayed in Take-Off for Melbourne
by Failure of Scales at Airport

PORTSMOUTH, England, Oct. 24
(AP).—A jinx dogging Colonel James
G. Fitzmaurice, Irish flyer, since Friday, overlooked him again today, forcing another postponement of his takeoff over the trail to Melbourne,
blasted by the air race flyers.
Scales at the airport here failed to hold up under the loaded weight of his ship, and the full load landing test was delayed until tomorrow.
Fitzmaurice plans to take off on Friday from Lympne in an effort to better the record of 70 hours, 59 minutes and 50 seconds set by C. W. A.
Scott and Campbell Black, the British winners of the $50,000 race.

ried Mother" has never been able

CANAL SURVEY WILL BE MADE

Ald. Dr. J. D. Hunter's Motion Acted Upon by Ottawa Authorities

The engineering branch of the Dominion Public Works Department has been instructed to investigate the advisability of constructing a canal between the Gorge and Esquimalt Harbor, and to submit a report on the investigation, the city clerk was notified yesterday.

This action has been taken as a result of a resolution passed by the City Council, and sponsored by Alderman Dr. Hunter, who was determined to ascertain the feasibility and advisability of the project as one which would cleanse the waters of the Gorge and provide a scenic boat route. If found advisable and practicable, Alderman Hunter intends to ask the council to urge the Federal Government to undertake the work
as an unemployment relief project.
The action of the city in passing the resolution, was endorsed by the Sanich Council in principle, but that body did not agree to the wording, feeling that the information contained in the motion was not according to fact. This criticism was of that portion of the motion which referred to the sanitary condition of the Gorge.

PROPOSE THREE CHIEF REFORMS

U.S. Bureau of Navigation and Steamboat Inspection
Formulate Report

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP).—
Three major maritime reforms were formulated yesterday in United States Government quarters to prevent recurrence of the Morro Castle ship disaster, which took 132 lives
at sea.
The commerce department's Bureau of Navigation and Steamboat Inspection was reported reliably to be nearing completion of its report to Secretary Daniel Roper. The report will recommend:
1. Fireproofing of all vessels.
2. Practical examinations for ab-bodied seamen.
3. Revision of the law limiting liability of shipowners.

BAISIS OF LEGISLATION

Secretary Roper will receive the report by the end of this week. He is expected to use it for the basis of new legislation. The report will not concern itself with charges of negligence against the ship's command.
Last week steamboat inspectors accused Captain William F. Warren and four staff officers of negligence that increased the Morro Castle's death toll. They must appear next Monday, at a hearing in New York,
to show cause why their licences
should not be suspended or revoked.

CALIFORNIA SPEAKER TELLS OF CAMPAIGN WAGED TO AID DOGS

A very interesting house meeting was held on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. G. Marshall, Chapman Street, under the auspices of the local Anti-Vivisection Society, the speaker being Miss M. E. Killo, a director of the San Francisco society.
Dwelling on various needy reforms for protection of animals, the speaker mentioned the close confinement of captive animals and abuse of animals employed on the stage and in film production. The major portion of her address dealt with the bitter struggle waged a year ago to prohibit the use of unclaimed dogs in the city pound for experimentation in colleges and universities.

The San Francisco press, with one exception, wholeheartedly supported the movement to save the dogs, and splendid editorials appeared throughout the campaign.
Miss Killo, reviewing the proceedings, graphically described the tense moment when the supervisors, before a room crowded to suffocation, declared by a vote of eleven to two,
in favor of the dogs. The next move, the speaker said, would be an effort to pass state law. In closing, high praise was extended to the active work being done by anti-vivisectionists in Victoria.
After serving refreshments, Mrs.
A. W. Stokes was heard in several well-numbered, and Master Wesley Marshall contributed violin solo.
G. B. Killo presided. A bridge cloth, donated by Miss J. Ewing, was sold to Mrs. Adams.

World-Controlled Economy Is Called A Beautiful Dream

United States' Conception Praised and Blamed by Various Delegates to International Institute of Agriculture's General Assembly at Rome

ROME, Oct. 24 (CP Cable).—Bouquets and brickbats were thrown alternately, today, at the United States' conception of a world-planned economy in agriculture, as delegates to the general assembly of the International Institute of Agriculture in turn praised or assailed it.

Great Britain inferentially supported the idea when Lord De La Warr, parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture, declared internationalism was a "beautiful dream," pointed out that Britain's own agricultural production was as big as anybody's, except perhaps, Canada's, and urged that increase in food consumption should be the main object.

BACK UP TUGWELL
 Giuseppe Tassinari, of Italy; Fritz Koehler, of Germany; and Adam Rose, of Poland, also more or less lined up with Rexford Guy Tugwell, United States No. 1 "brain trust" and under-secretary of agriculture, who had presented the American plan earlier. Tugwell had pleaded for aid and support in the "international trade," and had suggested that economic nationalism continue while nations worked out concrete international plans.

But F. K. McDougall, of Australia, and M. J. Irgens, of Norway, found much to criticize in Tugwell's speech. McDougall remarked on the "equanimity" with which Tugwell suggested that economic nationalism by building up industry would work permanent harm.

 "Tugwell draws a most interesting picture of the world temporarily engaged in a rapid readjustment and finds it natural that, in the preliminary or national stages, the problems should be isolated by keeping the door shut."

"The relative calm of the United States cannot be shared by agricultural exporting countries," Irgens quoted Tugwell's statement that "free trade is one of those simple, naive ideas which have been the undoing of untold imagination," and commented that free trade still appealed to him.

Jules Grotier, of France, declared that France could not abandon her protection of agriculture because the farm was the backbone of the nation.

A MIDDLE COURSE
 Tugwell had predicted that a way to build "a more substantial structure of exchange" would be found.

(AP).—"The worst experience of my career," was the way Van Brugge, wireless operator of the Dutch "flying hotel," which finished second in the Melbourne Derby, described today the plane's battle against a series of terrific thunderstorms.

The storms were encountered yesterday, after the plane left Charleville.

"We got off our course in a series of storms," Van Brugge related. "We attempted to get below them, and then, as this was unsuccessful, we rose to a great height."

"Sometimes we were forced to the right and sometimes to the left by terrific thunderstorms. It was a trying time, especially as our petrol was giving out."

"I tried to get Melbourne on the wireless, but all I could get was Moscow and atmospheric disturbances. Eventually, however, I succeeded in contacting Melbourne and discovered we were near Albany."

"The broadcasting commission got busy asking people to look for the missing Dutch plane and set everybody in Australia gauging into the sky. Soon we saw the wonderful thing being done by Albany to help us. The town's electric lights were being controlled at the power station and the entire supply was being used for flashing visible Morse messages to us. It was an amazing and very sporting thing to do."

The message advised us of preparations to receive us at the race course and we were soon able to follow the glare of lights from assembled automobiles to a safe landing place."

JONES AND WALLER COMPLETE AIR RACE

 Wright and Poland, who were spending the night at Shaba, near Baera, Iraq, said any chance they had in the race had been nullified by the action of Persian authorities, who, even though their passports had been duly vised, paid no attention to their pleas for freedom.

They were forced down Tuesday afternoon just west of Mohammed, small Persian village at the head of the Persian Gulf, and local Persian authorities held them prisoners until late Wednesday. Two English residents finally secured their release, but then it was too late to take off for the next continent.

CAPTURES ENTHUSIASM
 A stirring last-lap duel for second place between the flying Dutchmen, K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, and Col. Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, of the United States, won by the former, captured the interest of excited race followers here, after the enthusiasts' enthusiasm was kindled by the record-breaking winners, C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black, of Great Britain.

A race from Melbourne to Tasmania, in which Derby flyers were invited to enter, was announced today by Sir Macpherson Robertson, Australian millionaire, who donated the Derby prizes. A prize of $25,000 will be offered.

To claim any of the prizes, the Derby competitors must complete the 11,300-mile course in sixteen days or less.

WIN BOTH DIVISIONS
 An unofficial check indicated that England's brilliant aviators, C. W. A. Scott and Campbell Black, finished first in the handicap as well as the speed race in the England-Melbourne Derby.

But the Dutch entry, which came in today two hours and forty-two minutes ahead of the American team of Colonel Roscoe Turner and Clyde Pangborn, stands an excellent chance of getting the handicap first prize of $10,000.

Under the rules for the Derby, a pilot cannot win prizes in both races, but must choose between them.

Ten hours lost at Albany by K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, of the Netherlands, probably cost them their chance of beating the Englishmen's time in the handicap event. Had they remained at Charleville or Narromine, checking points, this time would not have been counted against them. All time spent between checking points counts as time in the air.

Should Parmentier and Moll get the $10,000 handicap prize, the second prize of $7,500 in the speed race would go to Turner and Pangborn. At any rate, the Americans are assured of the $25,000 third prize in the speed race.

It will be some days before official results can be announced, since times and "pay loads" must be checked. But for winning the speed race, Scott and Black get $50,000 and a $25,000 gold cup.

 There were many friends present at funeral services held Wednesday afternoon for the late Mrs. Margaret Ann Robinson, of Lake Road, Saanich. Rev. F. W. McKinnon conducted an impressive service, during which two hymns, "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "Abide With Me," were sung. Frank Tupman rendered a solo "Forever With the Lord." Many beautiful floral tributes were received, testifying to the high esteem in which Mrs. Robinson was held. The following acted as pallbearers: C. J. Campbell, E. Knowlton, W. Henry, H. H. Reed, J. McNair Paterson and H. W. Reed. Interment was made in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

TO HEAD FISH MARKET BOARD

The local board in British Columbia will have full control of the marketing of the regulated products. This will include power to require shippers to take out licences from the board and power to determine, for each season, what amount of a regulated product may be marketed by each licensee.

SATISFIED CONDITIONS

Speaking of the appointment of Mr. Dalton, who is secretary of the British Columbia division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Mr. Found explained today the order-in-council establishing the local board specified the body's chairman must be a person not directly engaged in the production or sale of the regulated products or having any financial interest in their production or sale. Mr. Dalton satisfies these conditions, added Mr. Found.

The new appointee, said Mr. Found, has been notably successful as chairman of the Fish Cannery Association in British Columbia. This has been due, stated the deputy minister, not only to Mr. Dalton's outstanding ability, but also to the confidence which the cannery men have in his impartiality.

RETIRED MEMBERS

On the school board, those retiring are Trustee George Jay, chairman, who already has announced that he will not seek re-election, having served for thirty-two years on the school board, most of the time as chairman; Trustee W. C. Moresby, K.C., who has been mentioned as a possible successor to Trustee Jay as chairman, should he be returned to the board, and Trustee Percy E. George. A by-election will be held during the regular election to fill the vacancy made by the death of Trustee J. M. Campbell, who had another year to serve before retirement. It is expected that the election will see Trustee Moresby and Trustee George in the field.

No contest has so far loomed for the position of mayor, the general feeling in civic circles being that the present incumbent may be extended the courtesy of a return by acclamation in honor of the work he has done for the city during his tenure of office.

Fordham Johnson, presented the Imperial Service Medal, awarded by His Majesty the King, to two faithful servants, Mrs. M. A. Croft, of Discovery Island, and Mr. W. T. Franklin, of Merry Island, who have been in charge of lighthouses on these islands for many years. Mrs. Croft has carried on her duties for the past thirty-three years, and Mr. Franklin has been at his post for thirty years.

HAD LONG SERVICE
Mrs. Croft was formerly Miss Mary Ann Brinn, and was born at Salspring Island in 1865. With her father, the late Richard Brinn, she went to Discovery Island when a young girl, and there, under his able tuition, learned all there was to know about operating a lighthouse. When he died at the turn of the century, his daughter, then Mrs. Croft, took over his duties in 1901. There she raised her family and lived a happy life. In August, 1932, she was retired from service, and now makes her home at Marine Chalet, Oak Bay, within sight of her old home.

Mr. Franklin was the first permanent lighthouse keeper on Merry Island. He was born in Victoria in 1868, and went to his island home on December 17, 1903. Although no longer in charge of the lighthouse, Mr. Franklin and his wife still live on the island, where they have a charming house and beautiful garden.

THE PRESENTATION
Shortly after 4 o'clock, in the presence of a small gathering of naval men and their wives and others directly connected with marine life on this Coast, His Honor presented the medals, the ceremony being performed in the drawing-room, which was beautifully arranged with masses of exquisite chrysanthemums and other choice flowers.

In his address, His Honor said: "I have asked you to come to Government House, today, to lend the dignity of your presence to a short ceremony which has been arranged to pay honor to two of our meritorious citizens, Mrs. Croft and Mr. Franklin. Mrs. Croft used to be the lighthouse keeper at Discovery Island, and Mr. Franklin has been at Merry Island, near Welcome Pass."

"Most of us, at various times, have occasion to travel by night along the British Columbia Coast, and, as darkness falls, our thoughts instinctively turn to those lonely and faithful servants who perform the highly responsible duties of keeping efficiently lighted those beacons which are needed for the safe navigation of ships and the safety of the traveling public."

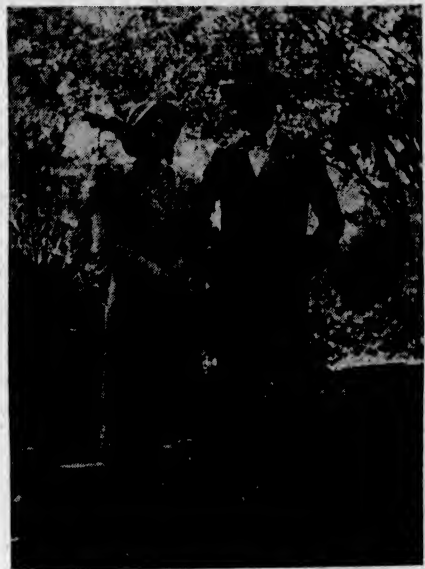

"His Majesty the King, recognizing the splendid work performed by these two faithful servants, has been graciously pleased to award them the Imperial Service Medal for long and meritorious service, and I have been asked, on behalf of His Majesty, to present these medals at a fitting ceremony."

"I do so, with the greatest of pleasure, and I hope they will live long and happily to enjoy these honors." Amid the applause of the assembled guests, His Honor then pinned the medals on Mrs. Croft and Mr. Franklin.

The guests were announced by Mr. J. G. Cromack, private secretary to His Honor, and Captain W. H. Molson acted as aide.

The visitors then adjourned to the dining-room, where tea was served from a table centred with a great

Married Here Recently Mooseheart Anniversary Celebrated

MR. AND MRS. JOHN MOYLE

Who were married recently at St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, are spending their honeymoon at Sprout Lake. Mrs. Moyle was formerly Miss Yoder Pemberton, daughter of the late Mr. J. D. Pemberton and Mrs. H. M. Lewis, of Victoria.

An outstanding event was held on Monday evening by the Loyal Order of Moose and Women of the Moose, in commemoration of the founding of Mooseheart on October 27 by Senator James J. Davis, this day expressing anew an ideal of vital significance, rekindling the fires of enthusiasm and loyalty to the organization.

Starting at 7 p.m., the Junior Legion drum corps, under the leadership of Mr. S. Harrison, staged a successful parade through the city, and at 7:30 p.m., the Women of the Moose, Victoria Chapter, No. 25, held a meeting, presided over by the senior regent, Mrs. Elizabeth Jane. It was reported that Mrs. Ella Fawcett and Mrs. Lillian Quaintance were ill at home and Mrs. Mary Crabtree seriously ill in hospital. The audit report of the finances for the last quarter was read by the recorder, Mrs. Helen Parker, for which she and the auditors were thanked.

A letter was received from Lodge 1390 notifying the chapter that a church service would be held on Sunday evening, October 28, at 7:15 o'clock, at the Victoria City Temple, North Park Street, this to be a fitting climax for the Mooseheart anniversary. Every chapter member was urged to be present.

The social convener, Mrs. Evelyn Clark, gave the report of the silver tea held on October 12, a hearty vote of thanks being extended to her. It was also announced that a 500 card party and Halloween masquerade dance would be held at the hall on Monday, October 29, at 8 o'clock, at the Victoria City Temple, North Park Street, this to be a fitting climax for the Mooseheart anniversary. Every chapter member was urged to be present.

Amid a large gathering of members and friends, the entertainment to celebrate the twenty-first anniversary of Mooseheart Day was opened by the dictator, Mr. George Allan, of Lodge 1390, who conducted the impressive 9 o'clock service, which is held whenever there is a gathering of the Moose.

Following this service, the chairman, Mr. W. Kettle, gave a hearty welcome to all, and the opening number of the programme was the orchestra selection "Tears and Rain."

A concertina solo was played by Mr. A. Jasper, a cornet solo by Mr. C. Alexander, and a vocal solo, "On the Road to Mandalay," was sung by Mr. C. Prescott. An interesting speech was given by Mr. W. D. Taylor on "Mooseheart," and he was given a hearty vote of thanks. The programme continued, with Mr. Chalmers giving an impressive recital, "The Difference," followed by the orchestral number, "Mississippi Cabaret." Mrs. Sneddon was accompanist throughout the programme. The concert was brought to a close with selections by the Junior Legion drum corps.

Supper was served, the tables being artistically decorated with chrysanthemums and hearts, and was convoked by Mrs. Evelyn Clark. Those helping were: Mrs. Tryphena Alexander, Mrs. Mary Pearce, Miss D. Guip, Mr. P. Leech, Mr. J. Pearce, Mr. W. Fawcett, Mr. D. McAtuly, and Mr. F. Moulton.

Following supper, dancing was enjoyed until 11:30 p.m.

COOKING EXPERT GIVES NEW HINTS REGARDING PIES

Over 200 women braved the unpleasantness of a wet morning to attend Jane Taylor Allen's second cooking class at David Spencer, Ltd., yesterday, when "Pie Making" was the subject of interest. Mrs. Allen had many new versions of this old art to explain to her audience, and some of her ideas were especially interesting.

For instance, few women had heard of rolling pie paste on a piece of canvas with the rolling pin encased in the white cotton leg of a child's stocking! That's the way Mrs. Allen makes the most delicious paste imaginable.

PASTRY RECIPE
She also told her listeners about putting pastry in the refrigerator for at least fifteen minutes before rolling it. Here is her recipe for pie pastry:

2 cups sifted Swansdown cake flour.
1/2-teaspoon salt.
1/2-cup cold shortening.
1/2-cup cold water (about).
Sift flour once, add salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening until mixture looks like meal. Add water a little at a time, mixing with knife or spatula until dough cleans bowl of all flour or pastry. Use as little water as possible. Roll dough one-eighth-inch thick on slightly floured board. Miss Allen used her floured canvas, to which dough never sticks. Fit loosely on pie plate. Turn edge and prick with fork. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) fifteen minutes. Makes one nine-inch two-crust pie. Use half recipe for one pie shell only.

COCOANUT BUTTERSCOTCH PIE
1 cup firmly-packed brown sugar.
6 teaspoons flour.
3/4-teaspoon salt.
2 1/4 cups milk or evaporated milk and water.
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten.
3 tablespoons butter.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
1 cup Baker's coconut, Premium shredded, finely cut.
1 baked nine-inch pie shell.
2 egg whites, unbeaten.
4 tablespoons sugar.
Combine brown sugar, flour and salt in top of double boiler; add milk; beat egg whites until foamy throughout; add sugar, two table-spoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Then continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Pile lightly on filling, sprinkle with remaining coconut. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) fifteen minutes, or until delicately browned.

Other pies which Miss Allen demonstrated were grape-nuts raisin pie, red cherry pie, made from minute tapioca; marvel lemon pie, made from Jell-O, and chocolate coconut pie.

This afternoon Miss Allen will begin her address on "Cakes on Parade," at 2:30 o'clock, and will show how to make the cake which is to be the contest "model!"

Coming-of-Age Party Held at Stansted Park

Viscount Duncannon Receives Gifts and Good Wishes From Tenants and Employees of Governor-General's Estate in Hampshire

The coming-of-age of Viscount Duncannon, son of the Governor-General of Canada and the Countess of Bessborough, which occurred on March 29, was fittingly celebrated at that time, but October 5 was the first occasion upon which a celebration could be arranged at Stansted Park, the family seat in Hampshire.

On the stage at Stansted Park Theatre, Stansted, Viscount Duncannon, the heir to the estate; the Countess of Bessborough and Lady Moyna Ponsonby sat at a table with the heads of the various estate departments and their wives. On the floor of the theatre, also at table, sat some 150 tenants and employees.

Great placards, bearing the old wish, "Many Happy Returns," adorned the walls of the theatre, and there was a fine arrangement of choice begonias and foliage plants in front of the stage. After everybody had supped, wine was served for, honoring the toast of "The King," which was proposed by the Countess. Then the presentations and the story-telling began.

PRESENTATIONS MADE

The tenants and retainers of the estate had combined with those of the Earl's estate at Bessborough, County Kilkenny, in the presentations to the Viscount, which consisted of binoculars and a silver salver, both handsome gifts, and the honor of being the first spokesman fell to Mr. Michael Power, a veteran of over seventy summers, who has been with the family for fifty-four years, and is now sub-agent of the Bessborough estate. He had come specially from Ireland to act as spokesman of the people over there.

In a very few words he presented the binoculars, with wishes to the Viscount for a long and happy life, and the assurance of a great reception when he visited Ireland.

Mr. T. E. Tomalin (the head gardener) presented the silver and told the first story. He was talking of the high esteem in which they all held the Viscount and of the high reputation of the family, and recalled an incident on the occasion of the wedding of Lord Duncannon's uncle, when a humble admirer expressed his enthusiasm in the words "No one ever heard of a bad Ponsonby." Judging by the applause which followed, everybody present agreed. In handing over the salver, Mr. Tomalin said: "May it never bear any bad news to you," and expressed the best wishes of everybody for the Viscount's long life, health and happiness.

The toast to the Earl and Countess of Bessborough was proposed by Rev. A. V. C. Horden, vicar of Forestside and Stansted and chaplain to the Earl. The Countess making a very gracious reply, which was honored with music and rounds of applause.

CHILDREN ENTERTAINED

After the speeches, the theatre was cleared, and the afterwards filled to capacity for an excellent entertainment by the Royal Yacht concert party. During the afternoon some 500 children were given a delightful time on the spacious lawn in front of the house. A presentation was made to the Viscount from the children and the school staff, which took the form of two volumes of Adam's "Architectural Works." After the evening concert an enormous bonfire was lighted, a prominent part of the park, and cast a blaze of light which could be seen for miles around.

A further gift received by Viscount Duncannon was a handsome salver from the Iverk Farming Society, Ireland, which for over 100 years has held an annual show on the Bessborough domain in Kilkenny.

Ladysmith Couple Celebrating Their Golden Wedding

MR. AND MRS. JOHN HARRIES

LADYSMITH, Oct. 24.—Bringing together five decades of history for a brief spell, Mr. and Mrs. John Harries will celebrate fifty years of married life tomorrow.

Married in 1884 in one of the beauty spots of Wales, in Silio Chapel, Aberdare, by Rev. R. Rowlands, of Saron Chapel, Aberdare, the bride of fifty years ago was Miss Mary Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas, and a native of Cardiganshire. The groom was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Harries, and was born in Pembroke-shire. The call of the distant West was felt by the young couple, and four years after they were married, in 1888, they started the long journey to British Columbia. They arrived in North Wellington on August 20 of that year. For thirteen years they followed the varying fortunes of that old coal mining town, while Mr. Harries made a digression to the Yukon gold fields.

In 1901, Mr. and Mrs. Harries moved to Ladysmith, where the new townsite was being energetically cleared, and since that time had practised as a townsite agent, one of the city's vital institutions.

ACTIVE IN LODGE WORK

Since their arrival in Ladysmith, both Mr. and Mrs. Harries have identified themselves with fraternal work. Mrs. Harries with the Pythian Sisters, and Mr. Harries with the Masonic Order. Both are charter members of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Harries, a charter member of Temple No. 5, Pythian Sisters, which was instituted here in 1901, has filled every chair in her long devotion to her lodge, until she became grand chief of British Columbia. HEPBURN TO SUPPORT PREMIER OF QUEBEC ON NEWSPRINT PLAN

TORONTO, Oct. 2. (CP).—Premier Mitchell F. Hespburn of Ontario said today, his Government would support Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec in his decision to place an embargo on newsprint destined for the United States, if a satisfactory price was not obtained.

"The United States publishers," the Premier said, "are just trying to play Ontario off against Quebec. We are not going to let them."

WILL FEATURE GUEST SPEAKER

Dame Janet Campbell, D.B.E., to Give Address for Women's Institute

Dame Janet Campbell, D.B.E., will be the featured speaker in connection with the South Vancouver Island district conference of British Columbia Women's Institutes, to be held here on Thursday and Friday, November 1 and 2. While the business sessions of the conference will take place in the members' room at the Legislative Buildings, a public meeting at the Shrine Hall has been arranged for Dame Janet Campbell's address on the Friday evening, with Hon. Dr. K. C. MacDonald in the chair. A reception has also been arranged to take place at Government House the afternoon of Friday, to give the delegates an opportunity to meet the distinguished British visitor.

The agenda for the annual district conference suggests that the four sessions will have a great deal to accomplish. The opening session will be on Thursday morning, beginning with registration of delegates at 9 o'clock. This will be followed by opening prayers by Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell, an address of welcome by Mayor Leeming and the reply thereto, and the customary greetings from some of the principal women's societies of the city. The Local Council of Women, whose spokesman will be Mrs. C. C. Spoford; the Women's Canadian Club, Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, and the Provincial I.O.D.E., Mrs. Curtis Sampson.

GREETINGS

The Provincial Women's Institute president, Mrs. J. D. Gordon, will also bring greetings, and in the course of the morning there will be an address by the deputy minister of agriculture, J. B. Munro, and the reading of reports from some of the institutes.

The afternoon session will be taken up with district conveners' reports and discussion of institute matters.

The Friday morning session will be occupied with further institute reports; an address by Mrs. H. McGregor, vice-president of the Federated Women's Institutes and the Provincial Institutes, who will speak on the former; the report of the South Vancouver Island district board, given by the president, Mrs. T. C. Robson, and election of district board.

SOLARIUM WORK

At the afternoon session Dame Janet Campbell will be welcomed, and Dr. Cyril Wace, superintendent of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, Malahat Beach, will give an address following the report of the Othello Scott trust fund and of the Solarium tablet fund, both of which have a direct relation to the Solarium and the Women's Institute in connection therewith.

On Thursday the delegates will be guests at luncheon of the Victoria Women's Institute, and that evening they will be entertained by the Lake Hill Women's Institute at their hall, Lake Hill, with supper at 6 o'clock and a social gathering. On Friday the delegates will be the guests at luncheon of the Colwood, Esquimalt, Langford, Luxton and Happy Valley Institutes.

The many kinds of carbohydrates, sugars and starches are transformed by digestion into one—glucose. Glucose is the real energy food of the body, being the one sugar found in the blood. There are several kinds of fat found in food. Through digestion, these are converted into glycerine and fatty acids. The body possesses, to a limited extent, the power to change fat into sugar, and starch or sugar into fat; evidence of this is given by those who eat too freely of sugars and starches. It is evident, then, that the tissues of the body can be properly nourished only if the process of digestion is in proper operation, but no matter how perfect digestion may be it cannot provide the materials needed by the body unless the right kinds and amounts of foods are taken.

RADIO SHOW IS AT PEAK HERE

City Dealers Pleased With Response—Enthusiastic Over Short Wave

Radio Show Week in Victoria is now at its peak and the local radio dealers are more than satisfied with the interest taken by the public in the displays featuring long and short-wave radios. Radio Show Week has been sponsored by the Victoria stores with the aim of letting the public see and compare the new models which have just arrived. The response which they have received is due in no small measure to the enthusiasm aroused by short-wave reception.

Practically everyone is familiar with the standard broadcasts, accepting them as part of entertainment found in every home. But with the advent of short wave the thrill of radio's early days is revived. Rome, Paris, London—these are on the lips of all as they compare the wonderful results they have achieved with the 1934-35 short-wave receivers. As in the days of the crystal set, enthusiasts are sitting before their radios far into the night, with music, speeches and entertainment features brought direct to their homes from the other side of the world.

STANDARD RECEPTION

With this new international bond still greater attention is turned to the value of first-class broadcast programmes. These will reach an ever-widening field of entertainment as the months pass. The results achieved now, with Europe, Japan and Australia coming in as loud and clear as stations near at hand, are but a taste of what lies ahead. In addition to the innovation of this latest gift of science, radio engineers have made big advances to-

PASSIVE DEFENCE

There are many active measures a defensive player may take to bring about the declarer's downfall. Honors may be underled, entries may be knocked out, aces may be held up, and so on. On certain hands, however, the best line of defence that can be adopted is a passive one. In other words, the player should merely avoid the issue in the all-important suit as long as possible and thus make the declarer do all the guessing. As a result of this defensive policy, which West followed in spite of the fact that it involved giving the declarer a ruff and discard, the declarer on today's hand went down one trick.

West opened his fourth best heart, and the dummy naturally won the trick. Declarer proceeded to draw three rounds of trumps, and then ran his heart suit, discarding one of his two diamonds on dummy's fourth heart. It was unfortunate for the South player's angle that the discard on the heart could do him no good whether a diamond or a club was chosen. The fourth heart was cashed merely to strip both hands of that suit, and the diamond was finally selected as a discard so that both hands would be stripped of that suit also after one round. After the fourth heart was cashed a low club was led from dummy. East clear as stations near at hand, are but a taste of what lies ahead. In addition to the innovation of this latest gift of science, radio engineers have made big advances toward perfecting reception of the standard broadcasts which have become part of the home life. A turn of the dial will transform one of the new sets from the argosy which carries one around the world on uncharted seas to the radio one is used to, but with sweeping improvements in tone, fidelity and power.

Another point which has been given much attention is the beautification of the radio cabinets. The new styles follow the trend toward the ultra-modern, with models fashioned along more conservative lines for those who prefer them. It needs but a tour of the Victoria radio stores during Radio Show Week to obtain a comprehensive cross-section of the amazing developments in the radio world.

Digestion

Health Service of the Canadian Medical Association and the Life Insurance Companies in Canada

It is well known that we must eat to live, but it is not so generally understood why eating makes us live. All the foods which enter the stomach via the mouth go through the process of digestion, during which they are broken down in their simple constituent parts. This makes it possible for the foods to be absorbed into the blood stream, and so be carried to the tissues of the body where they are used for energy, growth, or repair.

There are many different kinds of food, but all are composed of varying amounts and kinds of carbohydrates, fats, proteins, certain minerals and water. The process of digestion is made possible by ferments or enzymes, which are present in the digestive juices. The foods eaten first come into contact with these enzymes in the mouth, and they are then exposed to a whole series of ferments in their passage through the digestive tract. Each enzyme is a specialist, doing one thing only and doing it well. The enzyme possesses an uncanny power to make large masses of things, it is like the little bit of yeast which leavens the large amount of dough.

There is a vast variety of proteins, and yet, when digested, they all break down into twenty-two constituent fragments, or amino-acids. Proteins have not all the same nutritional value, because they do not all contain the same number of quantity of amino-acids. A combination of proteins in the diet is best, because it insures to the body a supply of all amino-acids from which to build up, repair and provide for the growth of body tissues.

Picture Story of Tragedy

Photographs show what happened when six men flew 600 miles to sea to meet the liner Washington in an attempt to bring in the first news of the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia. Five of the six were rescued after the airplane was overturned by a wave as it came down to pick up the pictures. It was a "scoop" that failed.

Leader of Scout Movement Leaves London Saturday

Lord Baden-Powell, the Chief Scout, will leave England, on Saturday, on a tour of the world. He will visit officially at Gibraltar, Port Said, Aden, Ceylon, Malaya, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, United States and Newfoundland.

The Chief Scout will be accompanied by Lady Baden-Powell, the Chief Guide, and they will be met by representatives of the movement, which has an active membership of nearly 3,500,000, exclusive of millions of men and women who have passed through the ranks.

Features of the tour will be attendance at the Australian, Japanese and a similar gathering of American Boy Scouts at New York. Soon after his return to England, the Chief Scout, who is now seventy-seven years old, will visit Sweden for the World Rover Scout Meet there, and is due to leave for South Africa a little later.

HISTORY MERELY REPEATS ITSELF

Canadian Railroad Pioneered Way for Adoption of Oil-Electric Power Years Ago

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24.—Railway history is repeating itself in the operation of the streamliner train between the continent from Los Angeles to New York.

Nine years ago next month, the Canadian National Railways pioneered the way in the adoption of the oil-electric motor power for railway use, and constructed an oil-electric car which dashed across Canada from Montreal to Vancouver, a distance of 2,937 miles, in sixty-seven hours. This test proved once and for all the feasibility of the new type of power to meet the trying requirements of American railroads.

"While it took the Canadian National oil-electric car seventy-two hours for the trip of which five minutes less than sixty-seven hours was actual running time, it is expected the Union Pacific train will make the coast-to-coast trip in fifty-seven and one-half hours," recalls B. T. Chappell, general superintendent of the Canadian National Railways here.

"Many improvements have been made since the Canadian National undertook its historic run, and all road men will wish this new train every success in this endurance test, for it may have an important influence on the railway equipment of the future," said Mr. Chappell.

Money Allocated For Construction Of Speed Trains

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 24 (CP).—For the immediate construction of five high-speed, streamlined motor trains, the Government has allocated $500,000. The speeds will not be less than seventy miles per hour on first-class tracks and will possibly reach eighty miles per hour. The capacity of each train will be about 180 passengers. Each train will be powered with two 300-horsepower Diesel engines, burning crude oil.

Police Boat From Canadian North Is Now at Esquimalt

St. Roch at Coaling Jetty — Parthenia and Ruth Alexander Due — Sweadrot Arrives for Lumber Cargo — Yearby Away

Alongside the coaling jetty at Esquimalt, the motorship St. Roch is having repairs made to her engines and undergoing general overhaul after four years' service in the Canadian Arctic. The St. Roch has a complement of nine Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers aboard, the captain and officer in charge being Sergeant H. A. Larsen.

The first officer of the police boat is Constable F. S. Farrar. In charge of police work is Sergeant G. T. Mackinson, while Corporal R. W. Kells is chief engineer; Constable Jack Foster is second engineer; Constable J. H. Davies, wireless operator; Corporal G. M. Wall and Constables J. J. Cranney, W. I. White, C. E. Wood, W. J. Parry, D. Perks and J. A. Macrae.

It was in 1930, four years ago, that the St. Roch went north on her last voyage. She was especially built for work in the Arctic, and is 104 feet in length, equipped with 150-horsepower engines.

Freighter Due
From the United Kingdom, by way of Panama and California ports, the Donaldson freighter Parthenia is due to dock here about midnight this date, according to word received from the master of the ship, yesterday, by A. E. Shanks, of Rithet Consolidated, agents for the line.

The Parthenia is bringing in approximately 100 tons of general cargo for discharge here, and will commence unloading as soon as she is tied up. Completing here, the Parthenia will continue to Mainland ports.

Inbound from California ports, the Pacific Steamship Lines St. Ruth Alexander is due alongside Rithet Piers at 10 o'clock tonight. The Ruth Alexander is bringing island and Mainland travelers and some general cargo for the port. She will continue to Seattle at midnight.

Arriving at Ogwen Point Piers yesterday afternoon, the freighter Sweadrot is loading lumber for overseas. Completing loading over 1,000,000 feet of lumber at the assembly plant, the freighter Yearby got away for the United Kingdom, yesterday morning.

For the first time since the Great War, the Austrian flag has appeared on the mast of a ship on the high seas. Austria's new "merchant marine" consists of a 3,700-ton tramp steamer, purchased by an Austrian company from Yugoslavia. While it sailed under the Yugoslavian flag, the steamer was known as the Yurko Topic.

Recently, respondent in new paint and flying the Austrian red-white-red ensign, the ship was commissioned by her new owners and is known as the Wein. He new captain is Austrian, but some of the Yugoslavian crew has been retained. The headquarters of the Wein are at Trieste, which was established as a free port under the agreement negotiated amongst Italy, Austria and Hungary, last March.

WATCH DEVELOPMENT
Pineapple producers in British Malaya are keenly watching the development of the pineapple industry in Formosa. At the present time, Malaya has the greatest portion of the British market for canned pineapples. However, owing to the extremely low cost of production in Japan, local growers are said to be doubtful concerning their ability to compete with the Japanese when the latter produce a fruit of equal merit with the Malayan.

The rapid development of the Malayan pineapple industry is shown by the fact that in 1920 there were 40,000 acres in Malaya under cultivation, of which less than 5,000 were planted solely for the pineapple crops, while in 1932, out of a total area under pineapple cultivation amounting to 61,000 acres, 21,000 or more than 33 per cent were planted as a sole crop.

PLAYHOUSE HAS BRILLIANT FILM

Diana Wynward and Olive Brook
Appearing in Milne Comedy,
"Where Sinners Meet"

A unique and humorous expose of martial difficulties furnishes much of the fun in R.K.O. Radio Pictures comedy, "Where Sinners Meet," which will be the next attraction at the Playhouse Theatre. The film co-stars Diana Wynward and Olive Brook in their first appearance together since the epic "Cavalade."

The picture purports to show that it is not the fundamental "bad" in one that drives one's mate into another's arms, but the invidious little habits and idiosyncrasies, such as grumbling at the breakfast table or being wholly engrossed in one's newspaper.

Billie Burke has the principal featured role in this adaptation of A. A. Milne's comedy, and the supporting cast includes Reginald Owen, Alan Mowbray and Gilbert Emery. J. Walter Ruben directed.

For months critics have been predicting that Spencer Tracy would soon emerge as a full-fledged star. All that was needed, they said, was a part strong enough to bring out his latent dramatic talent.

That part has come at last in the role of Murray Golden in the Fox picture, "Now I'll Tell," by Mrs. Arnold Rothstein, which is the added attraction.

Winfield Sheehan, who produced the picture, came to that decision when filming was about half completed and announced that Tracy would be starred in this and future pictures.

Columbia Offers Thrilling Story

The story of a double murder in a millionaire's love nest is the theme of the Warner Bros. picture, "Upper World," which comes to the Columbia Theatre today.

The picture is based on the thrilling novel by Ben Hecht, famous author and playwright, who points out that philanthropic love affairs and bloodshed can happen in the highest society, as well as in the realms of gangdom.

Warren William, portraying a millionaire railway magnate, who becomes involved with a chorus girl when neglected by his socially ambitious wife, heads a large cast of talented players. Stately Mary Astor has the role of his wife, while Ginger Rogers is the burlesque queen for whom he sets up an apartment in which the killings take place.

There are many thrilling incidents, in addition to the murder episode, including the rescue of a girl washed out to sea by the tide and the crashing of an airplane in which the millionaire and his girl friend are keeping a tryst.

The whole of the Gainsborough studios at Bellingham were transformed into the robbers' cave for "Chu Chin Chow," showing at the Capitol Theatre, on Saturday. The scene was an extraordinary one. Ten-foot staircases, glittering with quartz, pointed upwards to meet huge stalactites hanging from the roof; a waterfall escaped from the lip of a high "rock" and fell tinkling into a deep crevasse in the cave's floor. All round the sanded floor lay bags of gold, great chests of jewels, pearls and diamonds, and piles of jeweled armor, daggers, helmets and belts, "spoils" of a score of raids.

Into this treasure-house there rode, fierce, mounted men, galloping in under the low arched entrance, each with a girl on his saddle-bow. "We are the robbers of the woods..." they sang.

Playing the role of the bachelor whom the famous "Miss Hays," played by Zasu Pitts, wooed through a matrimonial bureau, Fields discovered that the role called for a picture of a young man, not as received by the impressionable spinster lady.

FINE DANCE BAND IS COMING WITH REVUE

Tomorrow evening the revue, "Girls in Cellophane," will open its Victoria engagement at the Empire Theatre, and will show for three days, with a special midnight matinee on Sunday.

The Club Monte Carlo Orchestra will appear with this revue and will produce a programme of the latest and smartest dance music, as well as some of the lighter classical melodies.

Bill Wade, the master of ceremonies, is one of the finest comedians ever to travel this circuit. He is billed as "Joe Penner's only rival on the American stage," and this is probably quite true, for he has amused thousands of persons during his present tour with "Girls in Cellophane."

SILVER SLIPPERS

CHAPTER XVI

Three people were in that space. Their backs were towards Drew as they gazed forth to where on the far horizon was the rare sight of a four-masted vessel, with all her canvas set and flashing in the sun. Of the three people one was Joan. Drew recognized her at once. The man on her left was, he judged, the lighthouse keeper. On her right was another man, slender and in white flannels and sweater, with a thatch of bright hair ruffled by the wind.

Not one of the three had heard Drew's step. He wore rubber-soled shoes, which had made no sound on the iron stairs.

It was Joan, who, turning suddenly, discovered him. "Drew," she cried in astonishment, "how did you get here?"

He smiled at her. "How did you?" Mr. Armiger brought me."

"Yes, you've met each other, haven't you? In the bookshop?" Drew nodded to Giles, who was now facing him. He was aware of a sense of intense irritation. Joan had spoken now and then of her visits to the bookshop and of her pleasure in them. But he had not linked this pleasure in the least with this man Armiger. Yet here he was, under a new aspect. Divorced from the dingy background of the shop he seemed to stand in his own right, with his look of youth, his grace and slenderness, the air with which he wore his correct, informal clothes. But what right he constituted himself Joan's escort on this adventure?

He found himself saying with some coldness, "I didn't know you cared to come, Joan, or I would have brought you."

"I know. But I hadn't thought"

ones and poor ones. Giles belongs to the rich branch and I to the poor," she laughed and flicked a crumb or two from the table with a small napkin, "but nobody cares for such distinctions in Granitehead, rich or poor, we're all one family."

Drew demanded, "If Armiger is rich, why does he work?"

Dilly gave him a sidelong, twinkling glance. "Because he likes it. He adores books, and money really doesn't mean so much to people who have always had it."

Driving home, later, Rose said to Joan, "Your friend is frightfully attractive."

Drew flung out irritably, "If you mean Armiger, I wish you wouldn't call him Joan's friend."

"Why not? He is that, isn't he, Joan?"

Joan said quietly, "Yes."

Drew drove like mad. Rose flashing a glance at him, added to the flame of jealousy which was consuming him. "He is marvellously good looking. And younger than I thought."

Drew refused to answer. He would, he decided, have it out with Joan when they got back to the hotel. He must seem like a fool to Rose. Not an hour ago he had been telling her, "Joan never sees anyone else, never thinks of anyone else—but me."

Now he had been made to eat his words. And Rose was laughing at him. That was the worst. Rose was laughing.

The wife of a small farmer sold her surplus butter to a grocer in a nearby town. On one occasion the grocer said, "Your butter was underweight last week."

"Now, fancy that," said Mrs. Farmer. "Baby mislaid my weight that day, so I just used the pound of sugar you sold me."

He said with a certain roughness, "Why should you apologize? It is he who should ask your pardon for bringing her here."

"But I am here—with you. I am afraid he doesn't like my having come with anyone but him."

"You had as much right as he..."

Her eyes were troubled. "I never dreamed that I shouldn't come. We are such good friends, aren't we?"

"Yes. And my friendship is always at your service. Will you remember that?" He did not know why he was saying all this at such a time. But he was led on by that look of trouble in her eyes, by the whiteness of her cheeks.

She said, "I'll remember," and, turning from him, stood looking out over the sea. She could hear Drew's voice as he asked questions of William. His questions were intelligent. Drew knew a lot about such things... about many things...

He came over to her at last and

November Schedule In City Basketball League Is Released

Twenty-Six Games Carded for Next Month in Victoria and District Loop at Victoria High School — Expect Keen Competition

There will be plenty basketball shoes worn out during November when the boys and girls who play in the Victoria and District Basketball League get through with the month's fixtures.

Les Gordon, general secretary of the league, last night released the November schedule, which cards, in all, twenty-six games. All matches will be played on the Victoria High School court.

FINE GAMES

Since the league opened, some three weeks ago, lovers of the hoop game have been treated to some keenly-fought tests, although at times some of the scores have resembled a cricket game rather than a basketball fray.

Victoria coaches are now in a position to size up their respective charges, and after some of the squads have been juggled and line-ups shifted, smoothly-working machines can be expected to show what they can do.

The complete list of fixtures follows:

Friday, November 2—Pantorium vs. Standard Laundry; Dealata vs.

Canadian Scottish; West Road vs. New Method Laundry.

Wednesday, November 7—Hudson's Bay vs. Doodads; Kingham-Gillespie vs. Regents; Colonist vs. Tillcum.

Friday, November 9—Unitas vs. Maroons; Canadian Scottish vs. Black Hawks; Hoyle-Brown vs. Burnett's; Fernwood Merchants vs. Dealata; Tillcum vs. New Method Laundry.

Wednesday, November 14—Cardinals vs. Burnett's; Dealata vs. Merchants vs. Dealata; Tillcum vs. New Method Laundry.

Friday, November 16—Maroons vs. Standard Laundry; Canadian Scottish vs. Fernwood Merchants; New Method Laundry vs. Colonist.

Wednesday, November 21—Doodads vs. Hudson's Bay; Dealata vs. Kingham-Gillespie; Tillcum vs. New Method Laundry.

Friday, November 23—Unitas vs. Pantorium; Regents vs. Hoyle-Brown; Colonist vs. Hoyle-Brown.

Wednesday, November 28—Burnett's vs. Cardinals; Fernwood Merchants vs. Black Hawks; West Road vs. Lake Hill.

Friday, November 30—Pantorium vs. Maroons; Canadian Scottish vs. Kingham-Gillespie; New Method Laundry vs. Dealata vs. Lake Hill.

STEVE HAMAS MUST BOX IN ELIMINATIONS

Officials Give Heavyweight Contender Until Next Friday to Decide

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP). — It was ultimatum day at Madison Square Garden, and before another week is out, Steve Hamas will either be in or out of the heavyweight challenging picture, and the winter programme will be completely organized.

The Garden today gave ancient Charlie Harvey, manager of the former Penn State football star, until Friday of next week either to renounce his warrior for the indoor elimination wars, or take him definitely to the sidelines, to fight while another contender is developed for a heavyweight title fight with Max Baer here in June.

The programme firmly set down by the Garden is as follows:

Hamas must fight Art Lasky, the Jewish heavyweight, over the fifteen-round route in the Garden in December, losing out of consideration the controversial ten-round decision Steve gained a few weeks ago.

The winner must fight Max Schmeling in January or February, probably outdoors, in another of the Garden's extravaganzas in Florida, also fifteen rounds.

About the same time, Primo Carnera will be back from a South American tour and can have his comeback chance against Ray Impeffiere, another Goliath, in the Garden, and, if the showing of the winner suffices, he will meet the winner of the other half of the draw in a final elimination match.

"There's $500,000 worth of activity there," said Col. John R. Kilpatrick, Garden president, as he laid down the law today to the Hamas forces, who insist that Steve, on the basis of decisions over both Schmeling and Lasky, already has qualified for the Baer chance.

It is the intention, he said, to have Canadian players signed with various English teams from the "Canada" team and play "England."

But England may have a "Canada" versus England" series of test matches anyway, unless Canadian authorities take steps to have the series named something else. P. K. Reynolds, European representative of the C.A.H.A., said he will vigorously fight the plans.

Winnipeg Monarchs Will Not Perform in England

Unable to Come to Satisfactory Financial Arrangements for Appearance of Touring Canadian Hockey Squad—To Play for World's Title

LONDON, Oct. 24 (CP).—Winnipeg Monarchs, named by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association to officially represent Canada at Davos, Switzerland, this winter, to defend what is known as the world's amateur championship, will not perform in England at all, it is learned here.

"There's $500,000 worth of activity there," said Col. John R. Kilpatrick, Garden president, as he laid down the law today to the Hamas forces, who insist that Steve, on the basis of decisions over both Schmeling and Lasky, already has qualified for the Baer chance.

"My association," he said, "desires to point out that this is incorrect, as no official Canadian team will be playing in England, and any aggregation of Canadian players in England cannot be recognized as the official representative team of Canada."

Lake Hill Nosed Out by Newsies In Torrid Game

Colonist Takes 26-21 Decision From Suburbanites as Sparks Fly — Doodads Triumph Over Revamped Hudson's Bay Squad, 30-24, While Kingham-Gillespie Whip Fernwood

In a fast and rough exhibition of basketball, the Colonist senior "B" team managed to eke out a 26-21 victory over fighting Lake Hill squad last night at the Victoria High School gymnasium. The win boosted the newsies into top place in the race for league championship, and broke up a three-way tie with the Colonist, Lake Hill and Beavers.

Doodads triumphed over a much-improved Hudson's Bay "C" division quintette, 30-24, and the Fernwood Merchants dropped a 33-22 decision to the well-groomed Kingham-Gillespie aggregation, in an intermediate "A" boys division tussle.

The Colonist-Lake Hill battle had the gallery leaning over the rails, and a fight between Elliott and R. Mitchell in the first half heightened the excitement. Both players were chased to the showers by Tommy Macedo, referee.

Colonist opened the game with a great show, soon running the score up to 13 to 4, and by half-time, they stood well in the lead by a score of 18 to 9. In the second half, however, the newsies, weakened by the loss of their star guard, Elliott, had difficulty in curbing the rushes of the tireless suburbanites.

With both teams playing at a killing pace, accuracy in shots on the baskets suffered. Time and again, long passes from Cunningham, Lake Hill guard, to the forwards, paved the way for golden scoring opportunities, but, over-anxiousness on the part of the receivers spoiled the perfect set-ups.

The Colonist members, too, suffered considerably from inability to score on their throws.

Despite the ill luck that dogged their play and shooting, at long stretches at a time, the Lake Hill boys, early in the second half, brought the score to 22-21. By this time, both teams were engaging in rushing with the ball from one end of the gym to the other with great speed. Many times the Lake Hill team proved too strong, or again too weak in their shots on the basket, but they succeeded in pushing their score up to seventeen, while holding their opponents' score to twenty-two. They soon added another two points, but this time the newsies retaliated with a basket.

At eight minutes before the final bell, the score stood 24-19, then the Colonist dropped in a free shot, and shortly afterwards the suburbanites came through with another basket. Just before the end, the newsies managed to drop in another free shot to make the final score 26-21.

In the first fixture, Doodads found some difficulty in overcoming the Hudson's Bay squad, which showed a marked improvement over last week. At half-time, the winners were leading, 20-12, and in the second half, the Bays outscored their opponents, twelve points to ten.

With the score standing 13-12 at half-time, the Kingham-Gillespie boys sprung into action and ran in twenty extra points while holding the Fernwood Merchants quittance.

RIBBONS MAY LOSE STARS TO ADANACS

Westminster Team Officials Dickering for Services of Chapman Brothers

Art and Chuck Chapman, star players of the Blue Ribbons basketball team, may join the New Westminster Adanacs this season, it was learned here, last night. Negotiations have been under way between the two local stars and officials of the Royal City hoop team, for some time.

When questioned last night, Art said: "We do not know for sure whether we will go, but the matter will be definitely decided within a week's time." He went on to intimate that both he and his brother would be willing to travel to New Westminster for tryouts.

Mayor Fred Hume, of New Westminster, paid a visit to Victoria recently, and interviewed Chuck Chapman with regard to playing for the Adanacs, it is understood. Another offer was made recently to the Chapman brothers by a team across the border, but it was not favorably considered, Art stated.

J. A. Barnwell, Ribbons' manager, said last night that everything concerning the transfer was so indefinite at the present time that he was little concerned. Whether the Chappmans remain or go to New Westminster, the Blue Ribbons will continue to play basketball, he said.

RANGERS' STARS STILL HOLDOUTS

Earl Seibert and "Ching" Johnson Waiting for Settlement of Salary Contracts

WINNIPEG, Oct. 24 (CP).—While his athletes gradually increase their pace in pre-season workouts for the opening of a strenuous National Hockey League season, Lester Patrick, boss of New York Rangers, wears a puzzled frown.

The silver fox of the major is a trifle upset over the non-appearance of two henchmen in the persons of "Ching" Johnson, husky defenseman, and Earl Seibert. The pair have delayed their approval pending settlement of salary differences.

For some time it has been common knowledge that Seibert was a holdout. Last night Lester received word that the big "Ching" also had an attack of contractitis. The brawny rear guard was still in New York today, and until contract troubles were ironed out he was not likely to attend camp workouts.

Absence of Seibert and Johnson leaves Patrick with only two seasoned defencemen—Alex Levisky and Ott Heller. In workouts here Bill Cook teamed up inside the blue with "Babe" Pratt, promising Kenora amateur and a pupil at Lester's training school. Levisky worked out beside Heller as alternates.

Tommy Gorman is aiming to bring his Maroons into tip-top condition for the season's inaugural Brisk two-hour workouts are the order of the day. Sammy McManis

Sonny and Billy Buxton Chalk Up Boxing Victories

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Oct. 24 (AP).—Sonny Buxton, 176, Victoria, won a hair-line decision over Ford Smith, 205, of Kalispell, Mont., in the six-round main event of a boxing card here last night. Buxton finished strong to win a split decision of the referee and judges.

"Branding Iron" Linn, sensational Montana lightweight, kayoed Harry Miller, Vancouver, B.C., in the fourth round of a six-round bout.

Billy Buxton, 125, Victoria, shaded Ernie Schwartz, Vancouver, in four rounds.

and Aubrey Webster, ace pucksters with Moncton Hawks last season, have joined the cast and will travel east with them. Gorman said nothing official had yet been signed, but he believed he had two promising prospects.

The Montreal roster will be completed today with the arrival of Lionel Conacher, bruising defenceman. The entire team shapes up in approved style and keen rivalry is noted in their spirited workouts on the ice.

CRICKET BODY HEADS NAMED

H. Lethaby Elected President of Victoria Ass'n at Annual Meeting

Hubert Lethaby, well-known cricketer and one of the game's most ardent supporters, was elected president of the Victoria and District Cricket Association at the annual meeting, held yesterday evening in the Victoria board room. Rev. F. A. Conley was named vice-president; R. H. Moffatt, secretary, and Jesse Longfield, treasurer.

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, was elected honorary president.

COMMITTEE NAMED

The association appointed George Wilkinson, C. Jones and P. Jordan as a committee to interview school principals and ask their co-operation in placing juvenile cricket on a sound footing.

The 1934 season, which was officially brought to a close with yesterday evening's meeting, was very successful, and the financial statement presented by the retiring treasurer showed the association funds to be in good shape.

OUTSTANDING EVENT

The outstanding event during the season was the visit here of the Eastern Canada touring eleven, which played against a Victoria "rep" side at Macdonald Park, while the annual inter-city matches created considerable interest.

Next season, Victoria cricket followers may have the pleasure of witnessing a California side in action, according to the association secretary, who intimated that Aubrey Smith, of Hollywood, was contemplating bringing a team here during 1935.

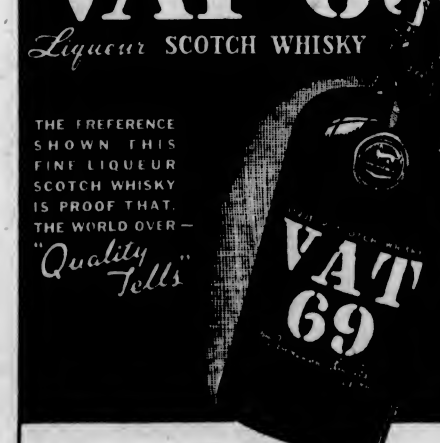

Macdonald Park, rated as one of the finest cricket pitches in the province, will again be used for inter-city matches, the association decided.

REFEREES NAMED BY HOCKEY LOOP

CLEVELAND, Oct. 24 (AP).—Opening up of play in games of the International Hockey League this winter was sought by officials of the circuit, today, when it was decided in a meeting here to eliminate the awarding of points for the contests.

In the future, two points will be given for victories and none for ties.

C. Charles King, of Windsor, president of the league, said he believed this arrangement would "speed up the game."

Four referees were chosen for the season. They are: Moose Jamison, of Cleveland; Mickey Ion, of Brantford, Ont.; Guy Smith, of Hamilton, Ont.; and Stanley Jacobson, of Fort Erie.

Canadian Lacrosse Association Head Spurns Gate Offer

Rejects Proposal Advanced by F. D. Pratt, Service Clubs' Leader, in Connection With Present Series Between Terriers and St. Helens

VANCOUVER, Oct. 24 (CP).—An offer of the Vancouver service clubs sponsoring the post-season exhibition lacrosse series, between Orillia Terriers and St. Helens, to turn over the proceeds of the fifth game to the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association was rejected by Dan Mackenzie, C.A.L.A. president. F. D. Pratt, service club president, stated today.

Mr. Pratt stated that, early last Spring, Mr. Mackenzie and Jim McConchy, secretary of the C.A.L.A., assured him of the second game would be handled by the C.A.L.A., he continued. "At that time I again endeavored to reason with him, pointing out the cause for which we were working, and finally I went so far as to offer him the fifth game of our series here, waiving all our rights therein. This he refused and insisted that the game would have to be played in New Westminster."

NOT WORRIED

ORILLIA, Ont., Oct. 24 (CP).—Orillia lacrosse fans have displayed little worry over suspension by the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association of Terriers, who won the Dominion lacrosse title in three straight games from New Westminster Salmonbellies.

The general consensus seems to be the Orillia club would not have trouble putting up bond to obtain the Mann Cup in any case.

COMPLAINED OF TREATMENT

Orillia club expressed their unwillingness to play at New Westminster, and complained of the treatment they claimed they had received from the president of the O.A.L.A. in not allowing them to play the Mann Cup series in their home town, Mr. Pratt said.

"Mr. Mackenzie then advised me that he was giving the press a statement that all players and officials taking part in the second game would be banned by the C.A.L.A.," he continued.

"At that time I again endeavored to reason with him, pointing out the cause for which we were working, and finally I went so far as to offer him the fifth game of our series here, waiving all our rights therein. This he refused and insisted that the game would have to be played in New Westminster."

"At a second meeting, I proposed that the series be played under the supervision and control of the C.A.L.A. and that, subject to the consent of the Orillia Lacrosse Club, a sixth game be played in New Westminster with the Salmonbellies, the proceeds to go to the C.A.L.A. to be handled as that body saw fit," Mr. Pratt declared.

Railroad Issues Lead Upturn at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP).—New life was injected into the sluggish stock market today by a sharp advance in railroad shares in the final fifteen minutes of trading.

Galvanized into motion by news that a Federal court had pronounced unconstitutional the Railway Pension Act, passed in the last Congress, leading rails spurred 1 to 5 points.

Volume increased 772,300 shares. The average for twenty railroad stocks rose 2.1 points to the highest point since late August.

Santa Fe, Delaware & Hudson, New York Central, Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line and Great Northern preferred gained 2 to 5 points.

Building, packing shares and various specialties joined the upturn of the rails toward the close. General Motors, John-Manville, Chrysler, American Sugar, Continental Can, Montgomery-Ward and U.S. Steel sold 1 to 2 points higher.

A brisk rally in railroad loans carried many issues one to two points higher in the final few minutes of trading on the bond market.

Reports from Washington the railroad retirement law was unconstitutional set in motion the widespread demand.

The foreign section was quiet.

WHEAT DROPS FRACTIONALLY

Decline Starts With Burst of Late Selling at Winnipeg Market

WINNIPEG, Oct. 24 (CP).—A burst of selling in the markets closing stages wiped out earlier half-cent advances and left wheat futures prices 1-8c to 1-4c lower on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, today.

October 17-18c, December 77-18c to 77-14c, and May 81-5-8c to 81-3-4c.

The closing flurry was the market's only sign of activity. Liverpool prices closed 3-8d to 5-8d higher, imparting strength to local values, which held until the final minutes.

No. 2 durum and red spring wheats were in demand in cash grains, the spread on those varieties closing 1-2c to 1-4c higher. Coarse grains futures were quiet, following the trend of wheat.

Virginia Vane Says:

JAUNDICED VIEWPOINT MUST BE CHANGED TO HEALTHY OUTLOOK ON LIFE

Dear Virginia Vane: I am more or less engaged to an extremely sensitive and imaginative woman who is intensely afraid of marrying for fear of ruining our love for each other.

She believes that marriage creates suffering, and that it would be wrong to bring children into the world where there is so much cruelty and injustice. I have tried to reason her out of this attitude, but although she loves me, she cannot be persuaded to see things from my point of view.

I respect her intelligence. I pity her greatly, for she is so unhappy sometimes. She feels others' sufferings deeply and I admire her for this. But I wonder what to do about my own problem. I want to marry to have a home and children. I am bewildered by my sweetheart's attitude. I wish I knew how to cope with it.—A Bachelor.

Tell the pessimistic lady to throw away her dark glasses before it's too late for her to have any enjoyment of life. And don't get the idea, Bachelor, that you're in love with the most delicate and sensitive human being the world ever knew.

Plenty of other women have sympathy for the suffering of others. Lots of them are affronted by the amount of cruelty and injustice in the world. But they don't let the situation get them down—not if they have real character. They go about the business of being wives and mothers with all courage and commonsense.

They do not admit defeat weakly. They do not moan: "We cannot marry because it may mean suffering. We cannot bear children because they may suffer hardships in this cruel universe. We are afraid of life and so we will run away from wifehood and motherhood."

No, they take the healthy commonsense point of view: "There's plenty of trouble in the world for everybody and we'll probably get our share, no matter what we do. We are not going to sit down and watch life pass by. We are going to take our chances of happiness along with the rest. We will make every effort to keep our marriages happy—and to keep our children safe. We do not expect the impossible, but we intend to get as much enjoyment out of life as we can manage."

Believe me, Bachelor, there are sensitive and imaginative women who are capable of thinking like that. You must not be influenced by such an unhealthy and jaundiced viewpoint as your lady love manifests. You must, indeed, influence her to think more sensibly if you are to be happy with her.

You see, at the moment you're engaged in flattering her with your admiration and your respect. You sympathize with her extreme despondency. You play up to her gloomy moods. Whereas if you were a shade less responsive to her pessimism, you might help her to take herself less seriously.

Maybe she'll think you're a brute the first half-dozen times you refuse to be cast down by her gloomy meditations—but if she loves you, and if she has real intelligence and a sense of proportion, she'll appreciate your honesty and commonsense in the end.

Teach her to be happy by refusing to let either your mind or hers be overwhelmed by all the misery there is in the world. There's a good deal of peace and joy lying round loose, if you'll make a point of looking for it.

ADMIT MOTHER-IN-LAW INTO FIRM

Dear Virginia Vane: Tell me how to deal with a mother-in-law who acts as though my husband's business affairs were hers. I am practically excluded from these business discussions. Also my mother-in-law questions me closely as to all our finances, which I maintain are none of her business. I should think she could find plenty to worry about without poking her nose into our business affairs.—M.Y.

Remember that for years a fond mother has been sacrificing and scrimping and saving in order that her boy might have the right start in life. Remember that her reward has been in seeing her boy make a success of his life.

Remember, too, that until you came along, your husband probably took great pleasure in consulting an interested mother about his business worries. Undoubtedly she has helped him many times with her sympathy and understanding.

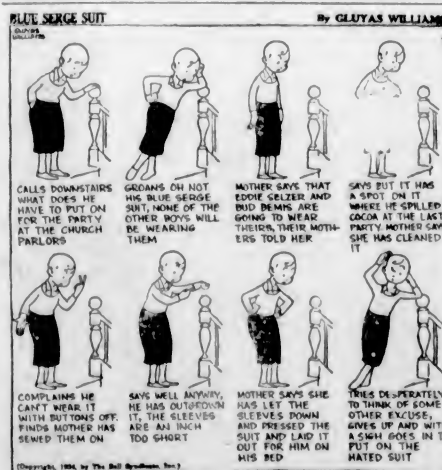

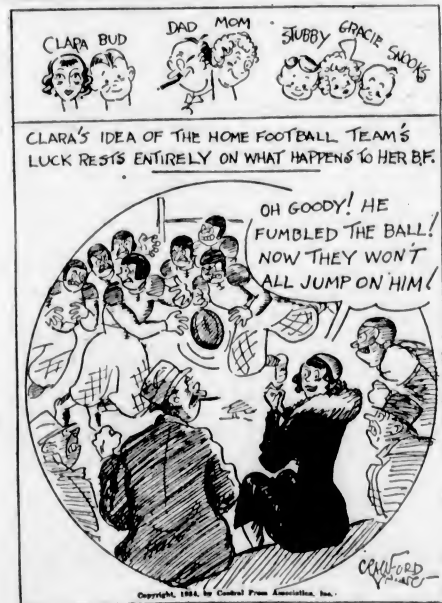

It's pretty difficult to break that off, at once. It's a hard job for any mother to turn over to a new and inexperienced wife all the reins of government. And it would be quite unnatural for her to lose interest immediately in the business affairs which have been her interest and her pride since sonny-boy landed his first job.

A little understanding on your part will ease the situation. The more you resent your mother-in-law's interest, the more you cause your husband to choose between you and his mother. If you will admit her into the firm, so to speak, you will make a valuable friend of her. Once you have ceased to oppose her in this matter, you will no longer feel yourself excluded from business discussions.

It is your own resentment and bitterness which have created the barrier, I feel sure.
